

Onsite screening saves lives

A Better You, Better Ohio!™ success story

Move up to better health

“The onsite screening staff were all wonderful. They each portrayed a very caring attitude to our employees.... They probably saved a life or two!”

For over 100 years, Kennedy Manufacturing has been making high quality tool boxes and tool storage. Its workers are their backbone.

So Kennedy was glad to offer an onsite biometric screening event through Better You, Better Ohio!, to help employees learn more about their health and begin on a path to better health.

When the results are scary

During the onsite screening, the health screeners informed three employees that their blood pressure was alarmingly high. They needed to see a doctor right away. And they did. The doctors told them that it was good they did so – otherwise they may have had a medical emergency.

“It was due to the concern of the staff at the screening event that my employees acted. They felt the genuine concern for their health and bought into it because the staff weren't getting something out of this themselves.”

On a path to better health

After meeting with the doctors, the employees have either started or adjusted medications. And they are on a path to better health.
